

I have expressed my general concern on this issue, but only now, one day before the vote on it have I learned the pertinent bit of information: Its all about a sell-out to Rupert Murdoch's Media Corp, technically an Australian Firm. Funny how I've only just learned this- AND NOT FROM AMERICAN MEDIA!

This raises many issues, but the major one remains: the airwaves are public and the FCC is "commissioned" to manage them in the (American) public interest. In that light the mandate is clear and the rule change now under consideration is irrelevant... and must be
